From the Rules of the Road: State of Wyoming Driver License Manual (Class C). Free at permitpracticetestdmv.com/wyoming/

1. D: Yield the right of way to vehicles and persons already in the intersection

You may enter when the way is clear, but you must yield to vehicles and persons already in the intersection. (Traffic signals: Green light, page 97)

2. C: Rectangular (county road and freeway route markers differ)

Most guide signs are rectangular, though county road signs and freeway route markers have different shapes. (Guide signs, page 96)

3. D: An X with the letters RR and a stop line

A stop line or an X with the letters RR may be painted on the pavement before a crossing. (Traffic signs: Round, page 96)

4. C: Slow, steady acceleration with front wheels pointed straight ahead

Starting on snow and ice requires slow, steady acceleration with front wheels pointed straight ahead. (Start & drive slowly, steadily (Winter Wheelin'), page 45)

5. D: They are more likely to tip over

4WD vehicles with high centers of gravity are more likely to tip over in a skid, and can skid with sudden power changes. (Start & drive slowly, steadily (Winter Wheelin'), page 45)

6. A: Stay in line and wait for a snowplow to clear the way

If the vehicle in front spins out on an icy hill, stay in line and wait for a snowplow; you'll get through quicker. (In a ground blizzard, page 46)

7. D: Pull off the highway, check into a motel and get some sleep

If you become drowsy, stop and take a break; if really sleepy, pull off, check into a motel and sleep. (Proper driving techniques on Interstates, page 61)

8. C: Move left to allow it a smooth, safe entry

Watch for vehicles entering the Interstate; if safe, move left to allow them a smooth entry. (Proper driving techniques on Interstates, page 61)

9. D: 120 days or more

A resident includes anyone who remains in the jurisdiction for 120 days or more, among other criteria. (Definitions: Resident, page 94)

10. A: No; it must be registered and plated for streets but may not be operated on interstates

A multipurpose vehicle must be registered and plated for streets and highways but may NOT be operated on interstates. (Definitions: Multipurpose Vehicle, page 93)

11. C: Where imaginary lines would connect the sidewalks on each side of the street

If there are no markings, a crosswalk is considered to be where imaginary lines would connect the sidewalks on each side. (Definitions: Crosswalk, page 91)

12. B: The distance traveled while deciding, reacting and braking until the vehicle stops

Total stopping distance includes the distance traveled while deciding to stop, reacting and then braking. (Definitions: Total Stopping Distance, page 94)

13. C: Park well away from the crash site and be ready to move if someone else loses control

Park well away at the crash site and be ready to get out of the way should anyone else lose control there. (If one person skids, others may, page 46)

14. B: To the left

Traffic in a roundabout comes from your left, so look left, wait for a gap and then merge. (Roundabouts, page 48)

15. B: Use your turn signal and yield to pedestrians

Signal that you are leaving the roundabout, and yield to any pedestrians as you exit. (Roundabouts, page 48)

16. B: 30 days after the 16th birthday

A restricted license runs out 30 days after the holder turns 16. (Age restricted licenses: For extreme inconvenience, page 13)

17. C: 60 days

The restricted instruction permit, for 14- and 15-year-olds approved for a restricted license, is valid for 60 days. (Age restricted licenses: For extreme inconvenience, page 13)

18. A: About one-half ounce in each

These usual servings of beer, wine and liquor each contain roughly half an ounce of alcohol, so one drink of each affects you about the same. (Effects of the amount of alcohol, page 33)

19. B: One year

A second DWUI that involves alcohol requires an ignition interlock restricted license for one year before any other license can be issued. (Ignition Interlock Devices, page 28)

20. B: When the parent owes $5,000 or more for 90 consecutive days

The suspension follows notice from the Department of Family Services that the person is $5,000 or more behind for 90 consecutive days; it costs $5 to reinstate. (Child Support Suspension, page 25)

21. A: Yellow with black letters

Warning signs are usually yellow diamonds with black lettering; only construction and maintenance warning signs are orange. (Traffic signs: Warning signs, page 95)
